

FLUID POWER.

MAYEE FUTTERMAN, LOS ANGELES.

In "Fluid Power", the artist from the United States plays with the art of Chinese brushwork, its essence being the dynamic interplay of contrasting elements. For example, water is simultaneously soft and strong. The three basic colours in the design were chosen for their meanings. Black represents heaven, the king of colours, spirit and substance. White is metal, movement, energy, bright, loud. Red is fire, joy, happiness, passion, vitality. Two goldfish swimming in a circle are lucky talismans for prosperity and success.

"A Chinese legend tells the story of a fish that can swim upstream and leap over the waterfall to the Dragon Gate, becoming a dragon. In this sense, the race car is an automobile reborn as a dragon."
